Conference Description:

Now that Michigan has joined more than 30 other states in adopting the Common Core State Standards for Mathematics and English Language Arts, what next?

"This is an historic moment for Michigan. With the implementation of the Common Core State Standards, teachers and administrators will have an instructional blueprint to ensure all Michigan students are college and career-ready."
State Board of Education President Kathleen N. Straus

Please join the Michigan Department of Education as we begin to interpret the "instructional blueprint" to ensure that ALL students have access to effective instruction for meeting the Common Core State Standards. Participate in discussions on systems and instructional strategies necessary to support the learning of all students so they leave high school prepared for college and career.
